Where Is Quebec's Voice?

non-Communist or neutral, where Queen Elizabeth would not be received with respect. In most of these places she would be welcomed in addition with admiration, and in a good many of them with personal affection. It remains for the capital of the province of Quebec to be notorious today as a city in which Elizabeth II was treated with discourtesy, coldness and plain brawl-

It was not only to the Queen of Canada that this saddening behavior was shown, it was also to the Queen of England and the Queen of our sister lands in the Common-The people of these countries will have formed their opinions of the royal reception given by the people of Quebec; unfortunately the people of Canada will have to share in some measure the latter's shame.

While Quebec officialdom voiced carefully-worded sentiments of welcome to Her Majesty, street gangs made rude noises which would not have been so serious had they not been created against a background of threatened violence and terror-The result was that the insecurity · precautions themselves became a form of insult, for few public personages in the world could have been subjected to so impenetrable a protective screen. The "flying wedges" and police clubbings, whether necessary or not, were as much an obscenity in a Canadian street as were the jeers

But perhaps most disturbing of weekend doings in Quebec.

TT IS HARD TO IMAGINE A all was the silence and absence of spot on the globe, Communist, the "good" people of Quebec. For -Communist or neutral, where months Canada has been told that the separatist movements, the terrorist activities and other protests against Confederation were the manifestations of a mere handful of malcontents, that the great majority of Quebec people were disgusted by them and would have no part of them. Yet where were the voices of protest from these good people, where were the welcoming smiles and cheers which they were so happy to offer the Queen only six years ago?

Do the people of Quebec agree with the uncompromising separatists? Or did they, as one correspondent suggests, turn their provincial capital over to street demonstrators and agitators to do with as they wished or as the police would permit?

Non-Quebec Canadians today would like to be reassured in some tangible way that the great majorof Confederation - supporting Quebec people whom they have been told to depend on really exists.

One thing is plain. Quebec and any causes it supports have lost immeasurably in Canadian opinion by last weekend's shoddy display. thousands of non-French Canadians today are reviewing their heretofore friendly sentiments towards the French-speaking portion of our country. It will now be much more difficult to preserve a national unity-and this may well prove to be the lasting tragedy of the shabby type of spacecraft appears to This latest Russian success innew type of spacecraft appears to be a significant advance in the art of space travel and has brought Soviet scientists the well-deserved plaudits of fellow scientists around the world.

Although there are indications that the three-man "Voshkod" space craft flight may have been of shorter duration than had originally been planned and that there could have been a failure of communications equipment, the Russians scored a triumph in placing in orbit a ve-hicle which will certainly be the prototype for further advances. For the first time space fliers were freed from the cumbersome protective clothing and equipment which limited freedom of movement in previous flights. The concept of a space craft which will serve as a research vehicle, observation post or even as a way station for manned flights this may be.

Webb, head of the American National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said, decisions on any modification of the present program cannot be made on the basis of one flight or series of flights by the Russians.

Certain Americans may be jeal-ous of this latest Soviet achievement but it does not seem possible, or sensible, for the United States to initiate any dramatic speed-up in its own space program which might endanger the orderly progress that has been made to date. Starting in the space race much later than the Russians, the Americans obviously will have to put up with being behind for some time yet, galling as Various accusations have been placed on record, Mr. Diefenbaker last Monday called attention to a statement by Mr. James Todd of the Canadian Maritime Union, alleging the existence of a deal to get Mr. Banks out of Canda. Mr. Orlikow n Wednesday referred more generally to vicious stories being carried from one end of Canada to the other about former ministers of the Liberal government, about former members and present members of Parliament from Montreal, about the amount of money which the SIU of Canada gave to Liberal election campaigns while Banks was in control . . ."

Tape Recording

While it cannot be said with certainty that all these rumors originate from a single source, Mr. Woolliams (PC-Bow River) certainly identified one of them. He wondered last Monday if the acting prime inister (Mr. Martin) was "aware of a tape recording of a certain interview given approval the comments of Mr. Justice by Mr. Banks to Mr. Ed Murphy—I had Norris in the famous report. a telephone call from Charlottetown to "He is a bully, cruel, dishonest, greedy, that effect—which alleges that certain power hungry, contemptuous of the law.

of the government, in the past have re-ceived from Banks certain considerations references to the tape in his speech of Wednesday. "Only time will tell," he said, 'and I wish Mr. Banks could tell."

The mysterious tape has in recent days been the subject of numerous references in both press and radio. Mr. Murphy has clined to produce it until late next mont because he is under an obligation to keep secret until after the SIU election. But he apparently feels no inhibitions about hinting at its sinister contents. According to the Canadian Press, it mentions Liberal election candidates who accepted campaign funds from SIU sources and also goes into Mr. Banks' social associations with some Liberal leaders, past and

No Evidence

Mr. Favreau is thus in the position that he must defend himself, or the government not against a tape but against sec-ond-hand hints of what a tape, not in evidence may contain.

Evidently, however, Mr. Woolliam's hidden witness is Mr. Banks himself. The credibility of the witness must, therefore, be considered. How can he be considered credible if he talked when the essence of the alleged deal is supposed to have been his silence?

One has only to glance back through the Hansard record to find Conservative and New Democratic appraisals of Mr. Banks' character. None of them are flattering. For example, Mr. Orilikow last October (Hansard P. 3400) quoted with

IN THEIR latest assault on Mr. Favreau members of the Liberal party, and maybe In his mouth the use of the word 'demosracy' is sheer blasphemy. For him the 'big lie' and the failure to remember are which may affect the character of good ever-ready weapons and shields."

Mr. Nielsen, in the same debate,

Mr. Nielsen, the Conservative prosecutor in this matter, made at least two as your arm," branding him "an undesirable individual who should not be allowed to remain in Canada." Indeed the Yukon member, at pages 3483 and 3484, placed the record on Hansard, mentioning not only convictions but also charges after-wards dismissed (including two for defamatory libel).

Grateful Mood

But it is now apparently suggested that Mr. Banks is worthy of belief if he brings charges against the government which was responsible, first for driving him from office and secondly, through the courts, for making him an outlaw. He is supposed, oddly enough, to be in a grateful mood because he was charged with a non-extraditable offence though he now expresses ditable offence though he now expresses this feeling (unusual in a gangster) by revelations evidently intended to smear the government which is the object of his uliar affections.

The crowning irony is the fact that the Conservatives entrusted their prosecution to Mr. Nielsen. While no one would deny Mr. Nielsen's ability as a lawyer, the fact is that he was one of a small group who was not in favor of the trusteeship legislation. His advice a year ago was that the government should amend the Citizenship Act by inserting a section providing specifically for the deportation of Mr.

If Mr. Banks had been deported, he brought his five year sentence. He would probably be exactly where he is, on his yacht in New York harbor, giving interviews filled with disparaging comments about the Canadian government to Mr. Murphy and other curious persons.

Of real mudslinging, there have only been two major incidents, both overinflated. Both occurred last week and both were the result of leading Conservatives losing their tempers under pressure.

They were Sir Alec Douglas-Home and Quintin Hogg. Mr. Hogg is a vigorous and ontroversial speaker. Brilliant and mer-irial, he makes challenging speeches which attract challenging heckling. He has a quick temper. Last year during the Profumo crisis he lost it at a probing tele-vision interviewer and at the editor of The Times, an independent Conservative newspaper which then was proving more endent than Conservative.

Hasty Retort

Tuesday he lost it at a rally in Plymouth, when a heckler described by Mr. Hogg as "some ass" interrupted his stir-ring tribute to himself and his colleagues with the shout, "What about Profumo?" Discipline In Sex

Columnist Arthur Mayse says chastity is not below the belt but above the ears. This is exactly what many parents believe also. And we have seen our sons and daughters bewildered and their energies dissipated by the effects of the required reading in first-year college and now seeping into high school. Many of these young never recover from the effects of this required reading.

I am not speaking of Shakespeare or Bronte both of whom give a rounded view of life. No one can deny that there has been a great onslaught of emphasis on sex for sex sake in every field of our modern life.

A Cambridge sociologist (Dr. J. D. Unwin, "Sex and Culture"), in making a study of 80 different civilizations over the last 4,000 years, studying their rise and fall, earne to a conclusion that people can make a choice. They can either have sexual freedom or they can have high social and cultural energy. They can't have both at the same time. He makes this interesting point: that we can determine the cultural development of our country if we are willing to practise the country if we are willing to practise the discipline in sex which is needed to do it.

If Mr. Gough is taking a step to give our young a better chance to make this choice he needs support of all people who care for the future of the country.

Newspaper writers have their problems, like other members of the working class, Ulcers, instalment buying, heart attacks fear of nuclear war, conceptual conflict between the "affluent" society and the need for a "Community" Chest; all part ot the rat race of capitalism.

But a new problem seems to have been provided, temporarily, to Times writers a terrible suspicion that perhaps one human out of many thousands of readers might decide that the reason why Uvic students did not verbally oppose a Socialist speaker recently was because they were in complete agreement with his "doctrine." In order to place this potentially wayward exception back on the straight and narrow, the Times suggests that the students did not even hear the speaker.

This could be true if Socialism was a compulsory and uninteresting part of the curriculum, but no one was forced to listen, or pretend to listen, and many didn't. If some student was thinking of finances and a car, it may have been be-cause the Socialist showed the way to a sane world where the best of ears could be produced and used without money, capital or wages. It could be that the half hour of Socialist Party of Canada social science was a refreshing contrast to the incessant doctrine of capitalism that normally rains down upon institutions of higher learning.

Try Free Buses In this day and age we have an ever-increasing demand for travel facilities: $350 million freeway approaches, and even blacktopped city lanes. Streets are choked with traffic which includes not-too-well-filled buses. These buses surply a public need yet are accomming for release.

need yet are screaming for riders—patronage to supply them with sufficient income to "make them pay" i.e., supply a profit: for profit is that black magic of today that we set as our goal.

But why must buses "pay"? Why not operate them free like the very roads and bridges they run on? (Even the air in their tires is free.) Charge five cents during rush hours and ten cents on express buses perhaps—this to discourage "pikera"; every other passenger free.

That buses would fill with people goes without saying. Cars would vanish like mist, parking would be evident at every curb. True, police courts, coroners and hospitals would lose in road accident patronage. True, Victoria wouldn't be quoted for blacktop spending in the mil-

BETWEEN OURSELVES

By Elizabeth Forbes

"God save our gracious Queen! Long live

our noble Queen!"
In February, 1952, those words rang out for the first time in more than 50 years, when a Royal Proclamation was sealed by the Privy Council and a young and beautiful princess became Queen Elizabeth II.

Millions of voices took up the chorus and the words swelled into a mighty paean of joy

Seven years ago today (Thanksgiving Day, Oct. 14, 1957), I heard those words ring out with the same joy and trust, when a brilliant page in Canada's history was inscribed at Ottawa.

On that day, the Queen of Canada drove along a golden mile of autumn leaves and cheering people, to the quiet dignity of the red and gold Senate Chamber on Parliament Hill, to open the country's 23rd session of govern-

The stately carriage came slowly from the residence of the governor-general of Canada, to the grounds of the Houses of Parliament. A Royal Canadian Mounted P lice escort led the way.

The people crowded close. Many had taken their positions along the route at dawn.

They shouted their greetings. They waved flags. Tears of emotion rolled down their faces, Later in the afternoon, when the solemn formalities were concluded in the Senate Cham-ber, the Queen and Prince Philip appeared on dais beneath the arched entrance of the Peace Tower.

belonged to Queen Alexandra.

It lingered too, on the happy, smiling face of the young and lovely Queen. A murmur of admiration rose from the crowd that filled every part of the lawns, every approach to the Peace Tower and then spilled over into the streets. It swelled into a roar of friendship and love, Then, with the first notes of the military band, it changed into a mighty rendition of "God Save the Queen!"

In the years since 1952, we have sung "The Queen" on hundreds of occasions

Gradually the first fine fervor disappeared. As time went on we even seemed to lose the deeper meaning of the words in our familiarity

Until a few months ago when newspaper headlines told us the Queen's visit to Canada, this October, was frowned upon by factions in the Province of Quebec.

As headlines became bigger and blacker and stories more lurid, a new note deepened voices of men and women who sang "The

Her eyes were dark and earnest as she added: "When prayers come from the hearts of people who respect and love their Queen and who see in her a dedication far beyond the call of duty THEY WILL BE ANSWERED!"

Today, the Queen is back in England. Her visit to Canada is safely concluded. You and I will continue to sing the royal hymn wherever a few or many gather, As we do sing it, let us strive to remember that IT IS A PRAYER and not just a familiar

And, in these days of unrest, not only in Canada but in many other parts of the world, let us continue to nurture a belief that the power of good does protect and shield. God save the Queen!

Some Swans Winter Near City

Dear Dr. Carl:

My husband and I have become interested in birds and particularly in ducks and swans. We notice that the bird check list published by the Victoria Natural History Society lists the whistling swan as a fall Can you tell us where in this area these ing which weeks in the fall they are most likely to pass through?

Dear Mrs. J.: Whistling swans may be seen anywhere around and almost any time in the fall and winter. The great majority of these birds move southward from their breeding ground in the Arctic along routes east of the Rocky Mountains but occasionally large numbers come down the British Columbia coast and it is some of these birds which we see in our area.

A few years ago several dozens of these swans were picked up dead or dying in the Georgia Strait area in early winter. The birds were all immature and in poor shape, literally starved to death. Evidently they were part of a rather large migration that had been caught by bad weather and had been prevented from feeding properly.

Most migrating whistling swans pass on through this area but occasionally a few win-ter over around the mouth of the Fraser River or around Vancouver Island. In 1952 three wintered near Victoria and last year five spent sometime in Saanich Peninsula. This season three have already been sighted flying over Oak Bay but so far none have been reported as casual visitors. The other native species is the trumpeter swan, a larger and rarer bird. Trumpeters winter regularly on the Coast and when weather permits some wintering flocks also occur in the interior of the province. The largest number frequent the Loneso Lake area each winter and other birds are reg-ular visitors to the Queen Charlotte Islands and to some of the larger lakes on Vancouver Island. Occasionally they are seen near Vic-

The two species resemble each other closely that even an expert may have trouble distinguishing them. Usually the trumpeter is much larger than the whistler but size is an unsatisfactory identification character. Trum-peters, both old and young, have a black bill, the adult whistling swan usually has a black bill with a yellow spot on the side at the base. However, some whistlers lack the yellow

The legs and feet of whistling swans are black, while those of trumpeters are yellowish, are visible, then their color is perhaps the best distinguishing feature to use in the field.

In some cases only dissection may serve to positively identify the bird. Both species have a long, convolated windpipe which passes for part of its length through the hollow breast-In the trumpeter swan the windpipe is looped vertically to produce a large bulge on the upper side of the breast-bone-a feature that is lacking in the whistling swan.

Chances are, then, that any wild swans seen around Vancouver Island are whistlers, but there is always the possibility that they are the rarer species. Close scrutiny and the opinions of several birdwatchers are necessary before a decision can be reach.

One other bird may confuse the picture—the introduced mute swan—which is present on a few lakes around Victoria. Mute swans, however, may be distinguished from the native birds by the rather prominent swelling at the These domesticated birds also carry the neck in a graceful curve (wild ones have a straight neck) and the wings are held in an elevated position above the back. Since a few of the ocal birds are not pinioned they occasio take wing and consequently may appear almost charge of agencies for the Canada Life Insurance Company of Toronto, paid a pre-retirement visit to Victoria Tuesday to meet with the firm's representatives here.

Mr. Gooch, who has been with Canada Life for 40 years, and in his present position since 1949, is due to retire at the end of the year. He is reputed to be one of the most widely-travelled executives in the insurance in lustry and logs well over 45,000 miles annually visiting branches from Hawaii to the British Isles.

"We are experiencing the best fall in our 117 years history, Mr. Gooch commented on his arrival, "and Victoria and our other western Canadian branches have made an excellent contribution to our growth

Mine Stocks Set Record

TORONTO (CP)-A treme lous increase in activity in mindous increase in activity in min-ing issues pushed the Toronto Stock Exchange's trading vol-ume ahead 71.7 per cent in the first nine months of this year. At the end of last month a total of 1,040,000,000 shares had changed hands on the floor of Canada's busiest market place, compared with 605,000,000 in the same period of 1963.

ACTIVE SHARES

Trading in mining and oil shares increased 79.3 per cent to 955,000,000 worth a total of $760,400,000, up 9.18 per cent. These figures were boosted by trading in shares of companies with property in the Timmins area. On two successive days in April volume reached more than 28,000,000 shares, a North American record.

THE BRITISH RAGLAN AT ITS BEST. Highlight of this year's British look is the raglan coat. Shown here is the Aquascutum raglan, favourite of 1964, the result of more than a century of fine tailoring. This new raglan is a most adaptable coat, to wear in town and country, slightly shorter, very much of the moment, in fine quality wool gabardine . . . shower proofed of course. Only Aquascutum could tailor it so well. Priced from about $75.00 at your town's foremost stores.

FOR SPACE TRAVEL

Superman' Theory Blasted by Soviets

LONDON (UPI)-A couple of days ago you could have packed the potential astronauts of the world into a small room. But today, a British space expert says, practically anyone in good physical condition can orbit the earth.

Leonard Carter of the British Interplanetary Society says the Russian three-man space flight brings the qualifications for a space flyer down from a superman to a good physical

"What the Russians are obviously working towards," Carter said, "is something like a present jet flight on an airline. The pilot has to be in superb mental and physical condition, but not the passengers."

He compared Col. Vladimir Komarov to the jet pilot and scientist Konstantin Feoktistov to the passengers.

Of course Feoktistov had to stand far greater strains on blastoff and landing than on any jet flight. But his physical qualifications did not have to be as flawless as Komarov's.

"In other words, the Russians have broadened the base of selection for space flights to include a great many people we would not have thought of as astronauts before this feat. "We used to think of all astronauts as a special breed of men." Carter said. "I think the time is coming soon when only the actual pilots will have to be of that standard—as far as space flight is concerned.

"But landing on the moon, at least the first flights, will

NO HONOR AMONG POLITICOS

By CAROL KENNEDY

LONDON (CP) - The trouble with elections, if you're a party worker, is that you don't always know who your friends are.

Take, for example, the case of Labor party workers who recently hung an eye-catching pic-ture of Britain's favorite tough gal, Honor Blackman, in the press conference hall of socialist headquarters in London. Miss Blackman, a cool blonde famed in a TV spy series for her judo and black leather pants, packs a pistol in the new James Bond movie, Goldfinger. Labor's picture, a blown-up reproduction of a Daily Mirror front page bidding Britons wake from the Tory trance, featured a photograph of Honor with her finger on the trigger under a headline Whose Finger on the Tranquillizer?

No sooner was this picture up

redbrick buildings glowering at each other across a tiny square in Westminster. Down the road are the Houses of Parliament.

TORIES HAVE SECURITY The Tories have tighter seeurity than Labor.

"I'm terribly sorry but you can't go up there," says the languid debutante in pearls and cashmere sweater as the innocent reporter asks for the press office,

"But surely the press office is for the use of the press?"
Bland, sweet smile: "I'm terribly sorry but we handle all press inquiries down here."

Across Smith Square Labor party headquarters exude a different atmosphere—more sparferent atmosphere—more spar-tan, more informal, with all the works exposed.

Here reporters are welcome in the press office, a large bare room with trestle tables, harsh lighting and dog-eared orange posters urging "Let's Go with Labor," tacked up along the

A motherly, grey-haired press secretary freely explains the workings of Labor's nerve centre. The Tories, in contrast, are so guarded with information you need the guile of a snake to extract such innocuous facts as the number of workers in the building. Both parties, in fact, employed about 160 paid workers at the height of the campaign.

WILSON TAKES CHARGE

Strategy sessions at Labor headquarters are directed each morning by leader Harold Wil-son, While Prime Minister Douglas-Home delegates most brief-ings and press conferences to his ministers, Wilson keeps all the

On both sides in the battle of Smith Square, party workers naturally profess confidence in the election results.

Labor men are slightly more enthusiastic than the cool Tory

"Oh yes, we're going to win. You get a feeling here when things are going well," said the motherly socialist, clutching both hands to her middle.

LABOR CHIEF IN HARD FIGHT FOR OWN SEAT

LONDON (AP) — Conserva-tives gleefully claim that Labor party leader Harold Wilson may lose his seat in Parliament even if Labor sweeps Thursday's general election.

A Conservative canvass of Wilson's district of Huyton, Lancashire, showed he was trailing his Conservative oppo-nent, Henry Tucker, by seven per cent. Independent Michael Baker is also running.

In 1959, Wilson carried the In 1959, Wilsom carried the district by 5,927 votes. But local Conservative chairman Richard Bradley said the tide now is running against Wilson in Huyton. The Labor party, aware of this, has sent extra campaign help into the district in the closing days of the in the closing days of the campaign.

Racial ssue Tricky

By DOUG MARSHALL LONDON (CP) - It has taken nearly 200 years and the tensions of a tight election campaign for the mass of Britons to realize they can be just as irrational on the color problem as the next man. No candidate in the Oct. 15

Relection can ignore the fact Britain now has 800,000 Afro-Asian immigrants and that most are having difficulty integrating themselves into the established social structure.

With immigrants arriving at the rate of 60,000 a year, the situation isn't improving. White resentment m ounts; colored suspicion hardens. Britain's al-ready class-fissured society is beginning to split into the most basic division of all.

How did it happen? Certainly, constitutional civil rights for any British resident, whatever his color, have been guaranteed since a historic judgment by Lord Mansfield in 1772 freed all the 15,000 Negro slaves then in

That particular minority merged without incident into the mainstream of English so-ciety. Racial intolerance ap-peared to have been legislated out of existence.

British complacency a bout color wasn't washed away until the first big wave of West Indian immigrants arrived in the mid-1950s. It wasn't long before anti - Negro slogans ap-peared on bombsite walls, prov-ing that the seeds of racial hatred, given a chance, grow just as well in England's green meadows as they do in the cotton fields of Dixie.

MOSLEY . . . quiet this time

MOSLEY DEFEATED

In the 1959 election the color issue was mostly confined to London's crowded North Kensington where Fascist leader Sir Oswald Mosley campaigned to "keep Britain white." Mosley's goon squad suc-ceeded in touching off the Not-ting Hill riots, but when it came to poll day Mosley got only six per cent of the votes and lost

He's not fighting this election and all is quiet in North Kensington. But the conditions that ignited Notting Hill six years ago have become commonplace in dozens of other London districts and throughout the industrial Midlands.

At least 15 marginal seats—eight Labor, seven Conservative—could be swung on the color issue alone. One theory is that Labor must take them all to win the election. Expert observers doubt it will.
Labor's main difficulty is its ambiguous stand on the Immiambiguous stand on the Immi-pratton Act—controls reluc-tantly introduced by the Con-servative government two years ago when the flow of im-migrants reached a peak of 115 000 a year. 115,000 a year. From the first, liberal-minded politicians attacked the hill as a violation of Britain's traditional open - door policy. Re-cently some right - wing poli-ticians have attacked it as well, contending the controls are not strict enough, particularly since they permit free entry for de-

Even with present controls, they say, the colored population they say, the colored population will climb to 3,000,000 by 1980. Maintaining that the saturation point has already been reached in many areas, they want to curb drastically or call a complete halt to immigration from non - white Commonwealth nations.

Candidates in constituencies with large colored populations are, in some cases, faced with an agonizing dilemma, aware that any approach will both win and lose them votes.

Conservatives have perhaps the easiest time, standing pat on the official party line that the 1962 act is a distasteful necessity that may prevent greater evils.

Originally the party was against the bill but now the program recognizes there must be controls of some sort. But it doesn't specify what they should be.
Labor candidates are left to improvise on the color question.
Few deny it is losing them

Not only the Bride, but many experienced cooks have trouble making gravy. And that is sad, because the trick of making good gravy is really quite easy!

BROWN GRAVY

After removing the reast from the pan, pour all the juices into a glass measuring cup or a narrow jar—and the fat will rise to the top. Spoon off the fat. Place the reasting pan on the stove over low heat and spoon into it 4 tablespoons of the fat. Cook and stir to loosen the brown bits of meat in the pan. Add 4 tablespoons of four and continue to cook and stir until the flour is a rich, dark hrown. Add alowly while stirring constantly its cups liquid (pan juices plus consonne or boullion). Bring to the boiling point. Reduce heat and simmer 5 minutes. Add additional liquid if a thinner stayy is desired. Sesson with a generous sprinkling of sale and MALKIN'S pepper.

Canadiens Use Same Formula

By The Canadian Press

Montreal Canadiens have opened defence of their National Hockey League championship with the same formula that earned them the title last season.

The Canadiens captured the NHL crown last spring because of Charlie Hodge's outstanding work in the nets and super efforts from several performers generally not thought of as "stars."

The summer layoff has changed nothing.

The defending league champions bombarded New York Rangers with 48 shots Tuesday night and Hodge turned in a 14save shutout as Montreal blanked the blueshirts 3-0. Claude Provost scored twice and sophomore John Ferguson added a third goal.

FIRST FOR MONTREAL

It was the first game of the season for Montreal and the second for the Rangers, who whipped Boston 6-2 in the league opener Monday. Three teams have yet to see action as the NHL slowly unveils its performers one game at a time. Chicago makes its debut tonight as host to Boston while Toronto and Detroit sign in Thursday when they meet in the motor city.

opened the scoring, banged home the winner.

For the third game, the Maple Leafs weren't skating up to their capabilities and Totems were continually beat ing the Victorians to the puck. Leafs also suffered from a tendency to give the puck away and Totems twice collected goals through Maple Leaf generosity.

Sluggers Happier in St. Louis ST. LOUIS (AP)—The World Series swimp back to Busch Stadium with its friendly fences today and not one second too early for sluggers Bill White, Roger Maris, Ken Boyer and Lou Brock. The batting averages of the proven long - ball hitters are truly shocking after the first five games. St. Louis Cardinals, with a 1-2 edge in games, have five of their eight regulars hitting 200 or less. New York Yankees, supposedly a bundle of muscle, have four starters batting under .200. White, with 21 bome runs and normally a power hitter, has a 1.67 mark. Johnny Keane, the Cardinals plump .471 average. Bobby Richardson, .391, Mickey Mandanger, offers a partial explanation for the weak hitting in the last three games in New York: "Yankee Stadium is a tough ark to hit in. SOME PEOPLE WILL BUY IT BECAUSE IT'S THE LOWEST-PRICED CANADIAN-BUILT CAR

SOME PEOPLE WILL BUY IT BECAUSE IT'S THE COMPACT LEADER IN PERFORMANCE

SOME PEOPLE WILL BUY IT JUST FOR THE FUN OF IT

And what a beautiful buy it is! Look at economy. The Rambler American is the lowest-priced Canadian-built car in every model. It sails by gas pumps with the greatest of ease and sticks its good-looking nose in the air at excessive repair bills. Look at performance. The '65 Rambler American is the neatest-handling, quickest-moving compact you'll find. Get the all-new, 155 h.p. Torque Command engine. It's a six that cuts loose like an eight for beautifully responsive, hold-onto-your-hat performance. Touch the accelerator. Get out on the highway. You've got a surprise in store. The 7-Main Bearing crankshaft with eight counterweights gives an amazingly smooth ride. In addition to Torque Command, you have a choice of two gas-saving sixes at 90 and 125 h.p. Look at features. There's a wide new choice of options and extras. For example: automatic transmission, reclining seats, adjustable headrests. And the rest of the list is just as tempting! Look at value. No other compact offers you safe, strong, rattle-free Single Unit Construction with Uniside. No other compact offers you Deep-Dip Rustproofing; Double Safety Brakes; Ceramic-Armoured Muffler. Look at the fun of it. The Rambler American is a delightful reminder that driving a car can be a lot of fun as well as dependable transportation. Whether you go for a 2 or 4 door sedan, a wagon, hardtop or convertible, the '65 Rambler American gives you a pocketful of healthy savings, sound quality, and thousands of miles of trouble-free driving. VERNON MAN CHARGED IN SISTER'S DEATH

VERNON (CP)-A charge of capital murder was laid Tuesday against Patrick Daniel Marten, 30-year-old advertising salesman, in connection with the shooting death of his sister, Mrs. Mary Muriel Miller, a middle-aged widow.

Her body was found in the bedroom of her lakeshore home here she lived alone. She had been shot to death, apparently with a rifle, police said.

Marten was arrested in Kamloops and brought here where the charge was laid.

Mrs. Miller had lived alone since the death of her husband last year. Her body was discovered in a bedroom of her little home by a friend making a visit.

Her Majesty's address to Quebec legislators was starred with sentiments and observations which would have been cheered with equal vigor by English and French Canadians of Laurier's day.

Quebec's great man is long dead however. Laurier in fact, has been damned by the paratists as a tool of Les Anglais; and the Queen's wise words quite and generous failed to ease

We are now, I'm afraid, in for a spate of analysis, advice and learned punditing ligom our big neighbor next door. This is understandable, since someone else's problems are always very much easier to solve than one's own.

Still, as in most domestic differences, there are factors which not even the wisest and most well-meaning outsider is likely to evaluate correctly.

I am no longer sure the breach between Canada's two dominant cultures can be mended, or even reduced by

BRIGHT new entrance to the reconstructed and enlarged City Hall features glass walls on both sides and the winding staircase to the council chamber on the second floor, as this photo in the new wing shows. Light, airy touch has been combined with traditional brick window arches to provide an architectural tie between the old and new wings. Visitors to City Hall will be able to see the landscaped square through the glass entrance walls, including the foun-tain's trio of monoliths which were being erected by a crane today as workmen raced to finish project for next week's opening.

Mr. Lipp's proposal was made to Vancouver council as a method of getting new freeways for the Lower Mainland.

He said Mr. Bennett could spend his money building roads to the Yukon if he wished, but he preferred to see the money spent on freeways in the south.

Apart from the constitutional difficulties, the communications of the existing province would be thrown into chaos.

EYE-CATCHING CHARM of the old City Hall renovation project is illustrated in these hallway arches of red brick contrasting with white plaster walls. Arches were put in, when the high ceilings of the old building were lowered, as a means of continuing the thematic design details of the old and new wings in which brick arches play a prominent part. Workmen began moving new furniture into the old wing this morning as the civic staff prepared to shift back to the Douglas Street headquarters Oct. 23-25 following a year in the Bastion Square Courthouse, which now will become a home for B.C. Don't Spare the Soap Just the Make-Up!

By PENNY SAVER

The essence of beauty is cleanliness and skin beauty starts with a clean skin. If your skin is clear from the outset, your make-up will serve to enhance your face rather than cover it. If it is blemished, however, the trouble may stem from dirt lodged in your pores. One answer to this is soap and water.

Penny has found a line of cosmetics which has a new skin soap that cleans skin and leaves a healthy glow. Soap comes in an attractive box containing three bars and sells for $3.

Younger girls often find that excitement or exertion will cause pores to open and ugly blackheads to form. Store where I shopped has a medicated formula to clear up such conditions. Apply to blemishes once or twice every week and watch your skin become clearer. This will refine pores, too. Lotion costs $3.

Skin, like people, cannot get along without some form of nourishment or else it will wrinkle and dry. A skin food I found Is good for all skins and that includes every generation from Cold weather will dry and chap skin and lips and skin food should be applied to keep skin fresh and young. Apply to your neck, too, as that is one place age shows first.

Foundation creams are a "must" to keep make-up from drying on your skin and caking. Tinted foundation cream comes in a variety of shades to match hair and skin color. Lighter foundation creams for the younger girl will help keep skins soft and fresh. Heavier creams for older women will tone down florid complexions or highlight pale ones. Cream is $1.75.

The company who makes these products has a few beauty hints to pass along. When massaging cream into the skin, don't pull or prod muscles; just work it gently into the skin. Then, muscles won't sag so easily. When applying beauty creams to your face, don't forget your neck. And finally (this is for the younger generation), make-up should not be garish. A little goes a long way and is more effective!

If you'd like these guides to skin beauty, give Penny a call at 382-3131 and she'll tell you where to shop.

Success Hits Home

A number of Victoria women learned Tuesday that the success of home decor decorator colors-not the dominant theme.

"The effect is becoming more subtle and decoration is being aimed at over-all beauty rather than a direct target,' they were told.

The event was a "Fashion Showing of Home Decor" apponsored by the Victoria Symphony Society Women's Committee and held in the Hudson's Bay Douglas Room.

Guest speaker was Rudolph Alperin, vice-president and color co-ordinator of Riverdale fabrics of New York.

Mr. Alperin pointed out that in decorating, you not only work with color but also with a design theme.

"The use of such accessories as a fringe," he added, "helps in teaming ideas."

To emphasize the modern trend of monocromatic color schemes, he arranged a display of plain, scenic, print, damaske and stitchery fabrics in gold

Colors in the grouping ranged from gold-tinged beige to deep rust-toned golds.

In another arrangement, Mr. Alperin created a resonant effect with the use of red, white and blue.

Memy of the fabries shown were in cool colors of green or blue warmed with touches of gold. The reverse was used in

A high spot on the decorating front is the use of conversational prints—actual artists' paintings that have been roller printed onto the fabrics. In many cases these can be found in panelling or window shade decorations.

Another new trend is the use of fabrics rather than paper in wall coverings.

In this instance, the fabric may be uphoistered to the wall to present an entire effect of its own or applied to the surface in a similar way to wallpaper.

However, the main objective is still to maintain a setting that induces calm along with beauty.

What Is Blood Plasma Made Of?

The human body is composed of billions of interrelated cells, each one busy carrying on its own vital activities. The teeming workshops use up raw materials and produce waste materials and produce waste materials are delivered and collected by the blood, almost half of which is a self-adjusting liquid called plasma. Human blood appears to be red because of the swarms of red cells it carries. It also carries an assortment of white cells. These cells are circulated throughout the body in a never-ending stream of liquid plasma. When the red and white cells are removed, we find that plasma accounts for more than half of the blood's yolume.

FORGOTTEN DEBT

Frenchmen Saved Canada Twice

Canada owes its existence in architects of Canadian unity and the Commonwealth to Frenchmen who twice saved the country from the Americans, a Unitry from the versity of Victoria audience was Royal Society, cited Frenchmen told Tuesday. told Tuesday.

Debt to French Canada.

Dr. Marion said it was the French who resisted the U.S. during the War of Independence in 1774 and 1775. Again, he said, the French prevented Americans from marching on Montreal in the battle of Chateauguay in the War of 1812.

That statement would have "Never forget, if the British flag was planted in Canada, it is due to the French who saved is due to the French who saved the British of the British is due to the French who saved is due to the French who saved is due to the French who saved in the British in the canada for the British," Dr. "SEE THE LIGHT"

French Canadians were forbidden under threat of excommunication to assist the American invasion, even though the memory of British conquest on the Plains of Abraham was still fresh in their minds.

"If they had risen to liberate themselves, to come to the rescue of the Americans (being beaten by the British), there is no question that Canada would have been a part of the U.S.,"
Dr. Marion said.

Wilfird Laurier was the father of Canadian autonomy.

French and English-speaking nations were equal partners in Confederation, but there is spirit and letter to the law that formed it. The French Canadian has equality because the English speaking people have kept to the letter that killeth, and it has almost killed Confederation," Dr. Marion said.

Dr. Marion said.

David Anstey, RVYC, was the Sabot winner in a class for sail-ors over 130 pounds. He was chased by John Ganton, RCNSA, and Lysle Russell, RCVYC.

In the under 130 pounds division, Dal Bryant of RCNSA was simst, followed by Mrs. Beth Russell, RVYC.

without the French, Canada today would be part of the U.S., said Dr. Seraphin Marion, professor emeritus of the University of Ottawa.

He spoke to University of Victoria political science forum on the subject: British Canada's Debt to French Canada.

Trom Papineau to Laurier as leaders bringing responsible democracy to Canada.

Quoting the historian Mason Wade, Dr. Marion said Confederation owes more to Sir George Etienne Cartier than to Sir John A. Macdonald or anyone else among the founding fathers. His reason was that Cartier made the greatest sacrifice, for which

CHANNEL CHIT CHAI: Canadians want their country's flag problem put to a nation-wide vote, CTV's Telepoll reported a majority want a new flag;

they want a maple leaf in its design; but they do not like the proposed flag of Prime Minister Pearson . . . Excerpts from the new Broadway revue, Cambridge Circus, will be pre-sented on Ed Sullivan's show Sunday. Leonard Bernstein is expected to give his vocal interpretation of a song by the Beatles, A Hard Day's Night, on his Young People's Concert for CBS-TV Nov. 6 . . . "The Munsters," a singing group inspired by the characters of CBS's new monster comedy series, has an album out, and, according to word received here, it is terrible. A story by the late Ian Fleming, about the cracking of an international narcotics syndicate, will be one of the six specials dealing with the United Nations which will be presented this season; it is tentatively scheduled for April on ABC-TV . . . Noris Goff, who used to play Abner on the "Lum and Abner" radio series, will make his television acting debut on Gomer Pyle.

Peter Donat and Patricia Collins star in a new Len Peterson television play, Between the Stiences of Love; on Show of the Week, Monday, Oct. 26 . . . Marty Ingels (I'm Dickens-He's Fenster) will make his Broadway stage debut in the David Susskind-Dan Melnick - Joseph E. Levine production of Kelly . . .

Susskind and Melnick are also preparing a TV comedy pilot to star Ingels.

An hour-long musical variety television series starring Jimmy Darren is being readied for the 1965-66 season , , Comics Rowan and Martin have been signed for their third appearance on ABC-TV's Hollywood Palace on Jan. 9 . . . Blood of the AEF, an hour-long adventure series which has the Second World War as its tocale, is a new project being prepared by

Singer Bobby Darin has jointed the long list of comics and singers who are going dramatic on tele-vision. Jerry Lewis is skedded for a Ben Casey episode; Robert Goulet has shown preference for dramatic TV roles instead of singing; Tony Martin went thespian last season and Milton Berle has received good reviews because of his dabbling in the serious art. It's one way to escape Hollywood's type mold, Ed "Kookie" Byrnes has been signed by MGM-TV to star in Kissin' Cousins, a half-hour comedy series based on a feature film shown earlier this year war in a Second World War Italian concentration camp.

Queen for a Day, cancelled by ABC-TV, is continuing production for syndication. Last week, Queen for a Day Inc. filed suit for $5,125,000 against ABC and its film wing, Selmur Productions, charging conspiracy to "impair and destroy value of the daytime series."

B.C. Unions Push Ahead Drug Store

VANCOUVÉR (CP) :- Pat O'Neal, secretary of the British Columbia Federation of Labor, said most of the major hurdles have been overcome in the Federation's plan to establish its own retail drug store.

The drug store would dispense prescription drugs at cost to union members and to pensioners in a move to combat the high cost of drugs from privately-owned outlets, he said.

NO CONTROL

Mr. O'Neal said the major obstacle—the Pharmacy Act that says 51 per cent of the stock must be held by pharmacistswill be overcome. He said the union drug store would meet that provision.

"The federation doesn't want control of the outlet. We just want to have something set up to provide low-cost drugs."

He said federation lawyers have also assured him there is no further legal stumbling block to stop the Federation from setting up the store.

The labor body also had approached European drug manufacturers, who have indicated drugs can be imported here and sold for much less than they now are, Mr. O'Neal added.

Delegates to the federation's annual convention here last week approved the union drug store. The federation represents more than 100,000 union members in Federal figures showed tourism earned $605,000,000 for the country in 1963, $145,000,000 more than the previous year. UP $45 MILLION

Provincially, tourist income n 1963 was $150,000,000, or $45,000,000 more than 1962. This represented more than $70,000,000 for Vancouver Island last year.

A breakdown of how the tourist dollar is spent in B.C. showed 26.5 cents went on food, 24 cents on travel, 20 cents on lodging and 17 cents on shopping, he said.

Tourists brought all this money into the area and took nothing out, he said.

"When you consider the oney spent by direct beneficiaries . . . it makes you realize the tremendous amount

Separatists — Stand Up and

QUEBEC (CP) - When the en's weekend visit to Quebec Ctiy was over, after the controversy that preceded it and the way it worked out, veteran reporters tried to fit the various angles together. Their speculation about the consequences was along these lines: Separatist leaders who sought the publicity of a can-cellation of the visit were satisfied with the headlines they did get over the fact few people turned out Saturday to see the Queen;

Some of the young Quebecers heretofore lukewarm about separatism will rally to the cause out of sympathy for demonstrators of the same age who were struck with police sticks and otherwise treated roughly;

 Probably a large propor tion of the bread-winning population raising families and trying to give their chil-dren the benefit of Quebec's education reform and its advantages will be angry about the way their city and its behavior will be represented outside the province;

• The Quebec City police conduct will be investigated and perhaps they will get the kind of training in crowd-handling Police Director Adrien Robert has given to Montreal police, although it may not be needed for any royal visit for some

• There may be a demand of the Quebec population on the hustings at the first opportunity to show whether they can win enough general confidence get elected and put their forences that led to Confederation three years later. Some figures in Quebec felt the visit to Quebec City was inopportune in view of the climate over the future of Confederation and separatists contended the symbolism involved was that of Anglo-Saxon domination of the French language population of Canada. Reporting on the visit, one London newspaper referred to Quebec as "the city of shame." A French language daily

We can rejoice over the fact this royal visit provoked no quences we don't like to think about."

What the London paper was astonished about was that Quebecers stayed home when the Queen travelled the streets Saturday and police kept breaking up demonstrations in the streets.

What the Quebec newspaper was relieved about, while annoyed over the fact its own police let themselves get too edgy and violent, was that no one interfered with, shot at, or tossed an explosive in the direction of the Queen.

Experienced observers felt Quebecers and their children acted normally in staying home during the frequent comings and goings of the Queen through the uptown streets, because of abnormal circumstances and the fact the symbolism of the Crown has Continued on Page 2

Mr. Diefenbaker, rising on a question of privilege as the Commons met, said Canadians as a whole had reacted to the events of the Queen's visit. Action by the Commons and Senate was necessary to give it expression.

Mr. Diefenbaker made no direct reference to the police stick-wielding during demonstrations in Quebec City last weekend or the cool reception of the Queen there.

However, he said Canada's image in the Commonwealth and abroad would be affected by the events of the Royal visit unless Parliament speaks out. External Affairs Minister Martin said that, despite the absence of Mr. Pearson (attending a federal-provincial conference), he was sure it would be "the strongest wish of both Houses" that some such measure be adopted. It would be another way of showing "the established fact of the loy-alty of this Parliament" to the Queen.

We are now, I'm afraid, in for a spate of analysis, advice and learned punditing from our big neighbor next This is understandable, since someone else's problems are always very much easier

Still, as in most domestic differences, there are factors which not even the wisest and most well-meaning outsider is likely to evaluate correctly.

But try we must: and in the continuing attempt to make Confederation palatable, I think we will fare better if we keep the American spoon out of the pea-soup kettle,

It will be a long time before the elements of the Quebec City fiasco are sorted, classified and labelled.

At the other extreme, we are given an inspiring picture of a populace roas welcome, each equipped with a little Red Ensign or Union Jack broken out for the occasion.

We'll never know, since that nasty chapter in Cana-dian history has been writ-ten, and must stand. But my own guess is that the truth, as it usually does, lie about equidistant from the opposing camps.

In my book, the gumshoe invasion of Prince Edward Island was one step removed from comic opera. I regard it as not only ridiculous but unnecessary.

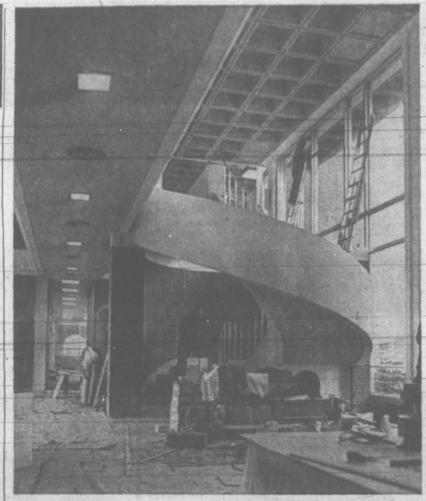

Not so with Quebec City. There, I think strict surveillance was wital.

A riot - and this I know from personal experience—is an ugly business. Once under way, it can whip out of con-trol in seconds, to be quelled only by dogs, tear-gas and perhaps gunfire.

This, I think, could very sily have been the case in Quebec City, had not its poli struck fast and hard. I don't think their sticks bruised many innocent bystanders. As for the newsmen who got whacked, let them improve their footwork and remember next time that a press card is scant protection when the action grows brisk.

The Queen's visit, to Quebec may have been a mistake. It does remind us, though, that a crisis remains to be dealt with . . , and that we have not achieved true nationhood until we've resolved it.

If we can.

BRIGHT new entrance to the reconstructed and enlarged City Hall features glass walls on both sides and the winding staircase to the council chamber on the second floor, as this photo in the new wing shows. Light, airy touch has been combined with traditional brick window arches to provide an architectural tie between the old and new wings. Visitors to City Hall will be able to see the landscaped square through the glass entrance walls, including the foun-tain's trio of monoliths which were being erected by a crane today as workmen raced to finish project for next week's opening.

Resources Minister Ray Williston said his reaction was unprintable, but it would be "like throwing away a goldmine."

NEW FREEWAYS

Mr. Lipp's proposal was made to Vancouver council as a method of getting new freeways for the Lower Mainland.

The rich, powerful new land would have strong bargaining power with Ottawa for assistance in a $345 million schem proposed in a special traffic rvey, he said.

He said Mr. Bennett could spend his money building roads to the Yukon if he wished, but spent on freeways in the south In any event, legal experts ointed out Mr. Lipp's idea was ompletely impractical.

Apart from the constitutional of the existing province would be thrown into chaos.

EYE-CATCHING CHARM of the old City Hall renovation project is illustrated in these hallway arches of red brick contrasting with white plaster walls. Arches were put in, when the high ceilings of the old building were lowered, as a means of continuing the thematic design details of the old and new wings in which brick arches play a prominent part. Workmen began moving new furniture into the old wing this morning as the civic staff prepared to shift back to the Douglas Street headquarters Oct. 23-25 following a year in the Bastion Square Courthouse, which now will become a home for B.C.
